FOSTERING HOPE AFTER FOSTER CARE

IMPACT REPORT

2025

Dear Friends and Supporters,

As we reflect on 2025, I am filled with immense gratitude for the progress we've made together and the lives we've impacted. This year has been a testament to the power of community, resilience, and unwavering dedication to our mission of empowering youth with a history of foster care to build independent, successful futures.

Through our programs and initiatives, we supported 361 youth, with 85% of participants over the age of 18. We expanded our reach through housing programs, enabling more college students to thrive academically and personally, I am proud to share that 30% of our youth are attending or have graduated from college, a remarkable achievement considering the challenges they face. Additionally, our employment-focused initiatives have led to a decrease in unemployment among participants, with 79% enrolled in school or career training.

Our Mentorship Program continues to be the cornerstone of THRU Project, with 196 youth matched with dedicated mentors who provided over 2,300 hours of guidance and support. This program exemplifies the transformative impact of consistent relationships with trusted adults, and we are grateful to our 192 volunteer mentors for their commitment to our youth.

We also made strides in addressing critical needs through initiatives like Pass to Success, Fostering Connections, and BreakTHRU. From providing transportation and cell phones to offering mental health support, these programs have empowered our youth to overcome barriers and achieve their goals. Our housing programs have been instrumental in providing stability, with 75 young adults housed and eight college graduates celebrating their achievements.

The Heart Gallery of South Central Texas continues to be a beacon of hope, connecting children to permanency and providing essential resources to partner organizations. This year, 56% of youth featured in the gallery exited to permanency, far surpassing the national average of 17%.

None of this would be possible without the dedication of our staff, Board of Directors, community partners, volunteers, and the incredible young people we serve. Your support fuels our mission and inspires us to continue creating opportunities for those with lived experience in foster care to achieve their fullest potential. As we look ahead, we remain committed to expanding our programs, strengthening our partnerships, and ensuring that every young person we serve has the tools and support they need to thrive. Together, we are making a lasting impact and building brighter futures.

With gratitude,

Leonard B. Rodriguez
Chief Executive Officer

OUR IMPACT

In 2025, THRU Project provided support to 361 youth across its programs. Approximately 85 percent of participants were over the age of 18, while most youth under 18 were served through the Heart Gallery. Expansion of our housing programs increased the number of college-enrolled participants we served. Consistent with the prior year, 30 percent of youth were attending college or had completed a postsecondary degree. Among participants outside of the Heart Gallery, 20 percent were enrolled in high school and preparing for college or vocational training. Housing stability remained a key priority. Thirteen percent of participants were not in permanent housing, while the remaining 87 percent resided in foster care placements, permanent housing, or THRU Project-supported housing.

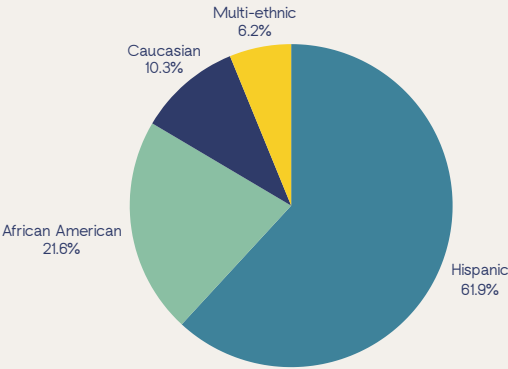

Employment outcomes improved in 2025 as a result of workforce initiatives launched in 2024. These programs focused on job readiness, placement, and retention, contributing to a reduction in unemployment to 12 percent. Additionally, 79 percent of participants were enrolled in school or career training, many while working. Nationally, individuals with foster care experience face significant barriers to balancing education and employment. Former foster youth are more likely to work while enrolled in school and less likely to complete postsecondary education compared to their peers, largely due to financial necessity and limited support systems. Against this national context, THRU Project’s outcomes demonstrate measurable progress in supporting youth to remain engaged in both education and employment despite systemic challenges.

MENTORSHIP

The Mentorship Program is the foundation of THRU Project. Established in 2011 as a grassroots organization, THRU Project began with a single program focused on providing mentorship to young adults transitioning out of the foster care system.

What began with only a small number of participants has expanded significantly over time, demonstrating the transformative impact that consistent support, guidance, and relationships with trusted adults can have on the lives of young people.

I cannot say enough about how much THRU is there for current and former foster kids. They empower young people to change outcomes and life trajectories.

Our mentors are the cornerstone of this program, offering continuous support to the youth with whom they're matched. In 2025, we had 192 dedicated volunteer mentors participate in the program. This represents an 83% increase since 2024 thanks to the 2,304 hours of mentoring youth with backgrounds in foster care. The success of this program is possible through their dedication to our mission.

THRU Project hosts Life Skills Workshops all year round. These sessions provide essential skills for successfully navigating adulthood. Community partners, who are specialists in the relevant topics, share their knowledge with young participants.

FOSTERING CONNECTIONS

Through a partnership with community partner T-Mobile, we provide youth with cell phones at no cost to them. For many participants, this device is their sole means of accessing the internet and maintaining connections with friends, family, and community resources.

Four out of five young people with a history of foster care are diagnosed with serious mental health conditions, compared to one in five in the general population. Through BreakTHRU, youth receive no-cost access to occupational therapy, individual counseling, and peer support groups. Participants report improved overall well-being and a stronger ability to set and accomplish personal goals.

COLLEGE GRADUATES

By providing the necessity of stable housing, our participants are able to thrive in higher education, while combating the national statistic where only 3% will complete college. As they continue to persevere and achieve, THRU Project continues to expand our housing programs to meet the needs of our participants.

We are deeply grateful to our dedicated staff, Board of Directors, community partners, and volunteers, and especially to the remarkable young people we serve. Their passion, trust, and collaboration are at the heart of our work and make our mission possible.
